Pro-Life Careers

Center for Bio-Ethical Reform

Immediate Openings: Project Director, Center for Bio-Ethical Reform (CBR)

Work Schedule: Full-time or part-time.

Location: Successful candidate(s) will live in his/her chosen state.

Travel: Must be available to travel, on occasion, to mentor pro-life student leaders at our largest and most influential universities. Some day trips and a few overnights are anticipated.

Salary: Salary commensurate with experience and abilities. Successful candidate(s) will attend an excellent fundraising training program and will learn how to raise support to cover salary and other costs. Weekly peer mentoring sessions, led by one of our most successful project directors, will help you achieve complete success ... a fully-funded pro-life career.

Selection Criteria: Preference will be given to candidates with experience leading pro-life activism. Pro-life leadership on campus is preferred, but any leadership experience will be considered. A college degree is anticipated. Fundraising experience would be a real blessing.

Job Description:

1. Where needed, start pro-life clubs on campus. Recruit, train, and mentor student leaders. Assist with club registration and member recruiting. Help organize pro-life projects.
2. Where clubs already exist, become a resource for club leaders. Help with speakers, events, member recruiting, leadership training, mentoring, etc.
3. Organize and participate in student leadership conferences.
4. Deploy CBR's Genocide Awareness Project (GAP) at major universities.
5. Organize Choice Chains at universities and other public venues.
6. Assist with other CBR projects, as directed by the CBR Southeast Director.
7. Make all of this possible by raising support to fund salary, maintenance, and projects.
